

BSL gets $350,000

Waveland, county lose out in grant program

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis has won a $350,000 grant to fix up run-down homes -- but tries by Waveland and Hancock County for similar funds lost out.

The Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development funneled a total of $10.6 million in HOME Investment Partnership Program grants to 36 local government units across the state.

A news release from state officials erroneously listed Waveland and Hancock's applications in the winner column, briefly bringing joy to planners who'd filed those applications.

But Deborah Franklin, a manager with the state department, said Tuesday, however, Waveland and Hancock County were ranked just below the cutoff point for grants. A total of 15 homeowner rehabilitation programs were approved, with Waveland and Hancock County coming in 16th and 17th, she said.

By a "horrible" mistake, the two local governments were included in a list of winners, Franklin said.

Meanwhile, Bay St. Louis' officials were successful in seeking $350,000 for a program to repair and rehabilitate 17 homes in a small area of Sycamore and St. George streets.

Beth Ousley, of the consulting firm of Gregory and Associates in Biloxi, said the grants will go to owner-occupants of dilapidated dwellings to bring the structures up to code requirements, improve energy efficiency, and, in some cases, provide handicapped access.

The grants most likely will be in the form of deferred "loans" which are to be forgiven after a 10-year period, to encourage the owners to continue to live in the homes and keep them in good repair, Ousley said.

The city's grant application had been prepared by Gregory Associates. Ousley will be project administrator for the rehabilitation program.

She said actual construction is several months away, following public meetings and preliminary administrative work that must be done.

The city is nearing the construction point in a similar program, under a $68,494 Community Development Block Grant. That money will be used to repair six houses in the 500 block of State Street. The residences will be used as rental property.

Keith Mitchell, director of community development for the city of Waveland, said that city's proposal for $350,000 would have been used to upgrade 20 owner-occupied dwellings scattered throughout Waveland. He said he was "frustrated" with news that Waveland wasn't awarded a grant, because he'd been told informally about a month ago that the city's application would be approved.

"I've been watching the mail for a letter" of confirmation, said Mitchell. He said the city will go through procedures to appeal for reconsideration by the state.

He also said he was optimistic to learn that Waveland came so close to being funded. If some city or county which was approved for the program drops out, he said, Waveland would be next in line for funding.

Hancock County was in the same position. State officials studied the applications of more than 50 cities and counties

Leaders gather

The night of August 17, 1969, some 25 years ago, will be long remembered by Hancock countians and others along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. Thousands were forced from their homes by 225 miles per hour plus winds and tidal surges. Following the storm, many hours of meetings were held to address the most pressing issues, the health and welfare of all residents. Among those attending one of the many meetings held at the Waveland Ramada Inn (Waveland Resort Inn today) were from left, Russell Elliott, president of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors; Hardin Shattuck, Coast Electric Power Association manager; Joseph Benvenuti, Supervisor attorney; Garfield Ladner, Waveland mayor; and Charles Hill, Hancock County Port & Harbor executive director. No new taxes

County adopts yearly budget

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors adopted their 1994-95 budget of $17,447,620, which is a decrease of $63,389 from last year, and did not raise a single penny in taxes.

Chancery Clerk Michael Necaie said the way that the county was able to do this was that they refinanced bonds and they also do not have the sand beach project this year.

"There have been decreases and increases in the individual budgets, but the bottom line is that we lowered our overall budget and did not raise taxes," Necaie said.

Necaie said that there has been an increase in the amount of gaming monies that has come into the county. He said that this year the county will be receiving in excess of $1,419,000, which is up $419,000.

The total general funds amount to $8,367,541, which is an increase of $1,092,439 from the budgeted amount last year of $7,275,102.

The total special revenue is $6,816,440, which is also an increase of $484,345 from last year's $6,332,095.

The total debt service is down to $1,558,316 from last year's $1,763,712, which is a difference of $95,396.

Construction funds are also down to $534,779 from last year's $2,096,000, which is a difference of $1,561,221.

The total enterprise funds have increased to $60,544 from last year's $44,100, which is an increase of $16,444.

Overall, the total budget for the 1994-95 year is $17,447,620. Last year's budget was $17,511,009.

The board adopted this budget Monday, but will accept the final budget on Sept. 1.

Even though the projected budget is smaller than last year, the supervisors have included a $1,000 pay raise for the county employees. This is the second year in a row that the employees have received such a pay raise.

Suspect nabbed in Diamondhead burglaries

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

An alleged burglar, suspected in two cases just outside the rear entrance of Diamondhead, has been nabbed by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Hancock County Investigator Nathan Hoda said that Anthony Woodward, 26, of Lakeshore was arrested Monday on two counts of burglary of a dwelling and one count of resisting arrest.

"A suspicious vehicle was seen parked at a residence by the owner's father. He got the tag number and called it in to

Fiddlin' the time away

David Ludin, 9, found an excellent way to use his musical talents and to earn money without a great deal of physical exertion—he just sits and serenades passersby. The boy, a nephew of Allyson Keller, who owns Jolly Rogers, set up his business outside of hers last week and raked in the loot just for playing Beethoven on his untuned violin. The biggest strain for him was to think of the clever lines to place on his "pot of plenty." Ludin and his brother Tommy, from Virginia, are visiting here before their school resumes classes. Miss USA advises Hancock students

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

Her smile was bright and her laughter radiated through the packed auditorium of Hancock High students as she gave her message "Do what you love and the rest will come."

Frances Louise "Lu" Parker, 26, of South Carolina, is the 1994 Miss USA and founder of Helping All Teens Survive (HATS).

Parker, who has her master's degree in English literature, was teaching ninth grade classes when she won her Miss USA title. She told the Hancock students that no matter what they decide to do, they should set goals.

"If you were making D's and F's, set a goal to make a C. When you achieve that goal, set another one and go higher. It doesn't matter what you decide to do with your life — if you decide to go to work after you graduate, go to college, or get married and start a family. Do your best at whatever you decide. Do what you love, and the rest will come," Parker said.

She told the students that she would have never achieved what she had for herself if she had not set small goals and worked her way up. She encouraged them and told them to keep a positive attitude.

"Be happy and be nice to one another," she said.

Parker spoke to the students on Monday after she spent the morning at John C. Stennis Space Center.

She placed sixth in the 1994 Miss Universe Pageant with a little help from SSC. Parker

Card of Thanks

I just have to let you know about the wonderful people at Wal-Mart. Wal-Mart management and employees were like family to our daughter and to our family. Carol Ladner died August 4, 1994. She was employed at Wal-Mart for 10 years. Never have I seen the loving concern, caring and the desire to help us any way they could; the hospital visits, the phone calls, the presents, the flowers, etc. Our thanks and our love to all at Wal-Mart.

NOTICE OF BUDGE HEARING AND PROPOSED TAX DECREASE FOR HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has under consideration a proposal to decrease its property tax revenue by 2 percent from all classes of property provided for in Section 112, Mississippi Constitution of 1890, as amended, said decrease being a millage decrease of one mill, and to decrease its total budget by 0.4 percent, inclusive of new growth.

All concerned citizens are invited to attend a public hearing on the tax decrease and budget on September 6, 1994 at 10:00 a.m. in the Board of Supervisors' meeting room in the Hancock County Courthouse located at 150 Main Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

A final decision on the proposed tax decrease will be made on September 6, 1994 at 10:00 a.m. in a public hearing to be held in the said Board of Supervisors' meeting room.

Published by Order of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors adopted on August 1, 1994.

Theft of cement and nails builds case against two

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

What do you get when you mix cement, nails and two people running from the law? An attempted grand larceny charge with a broken arm to top it off.

Investigator Nathan Hoda, with the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, said that the uncle and nephew team of Jason Joseph Murray, 18, and Gene Earl Murray Sr., 21, both of Lakeshore, were arrested and each charged with attempted grand larceny.

Hoda said that the charges came after the two allegedly attempted to steal several sacks of cement and a box of nails from the overflow parking lot for Jubilee Casino in Bayou Caddy Tuesday night.

"Security personnel from Jubilee caught the two allegedly trying to steal the cement and nails. The Murrays then got into their vehicle and security officers followed them. One of the Murrays was driving while the other was in the back of the truck, throwing the cement sacks onto the roadway," Hoda said.

While attempting to throw the sacks out, Gene Murray fell out of the truck and broke his arm, but fled through the marsh and could not be located at that time, Hoda said.

Jason Murray continued to drive away and turned onto Second Street in Clermont Harbor where he jumped out of the moving vehicle. He also ran through the marsh, but was captured shortly after by sheriff's deputies.

Gene Murray turned himself in to the Hancock County Sheriff's Department this morning after going to the doctor.

The Murrays are currently in the Hancock County Justice Facility under $5,000 bond each.

Deputies Corky Hoda, Tim Broder and Norman Willette worked on the case.

Equine encephalitis on rise

BY CHARLEE MARSHALL

This area is seeing an increase in cases of Eastern Equine Encephalitis, reports veterinarian Dr. Michael J. Lee of Lee Animal Clinic in Kiln.

On the average, he sees three cases a year, but last week, he saw four in one day, bringing the total he has seen already this year to seven. The doctor attributes the rise in cases to the early summer rains and almost constant wet conditions that have had mosquitos swarming. The insects carry the virus that causes the disease.

The most important thing that horse owners can do to protect their animals from this potential killer disease is to have them inoculated on a regular basis, Dr. Lee said. In all of the seven cases he has seen, the horses had not been vaccinated.

Any age horse is susceptible, he added.

Dr. Lee described the symptoms of Eastern Equine Encephalitis. He said that about 12 to 24 hours after contracting the virus, the horse will become lethargic or sleepy. It will then lose its appetite and be uncoordinated in its movements, since the virus destroys the central nervous system.

Although in rare cases, horses have been known to survive the disease, "the prognosis is grave," Dr. Lee said.

Waveland aldermen discuss budget

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER

"Did your department receive a five percent raise in salaries too?" was the question asked most often in the three and a half hour long budget meeting for the city of Waveland.

Alderman Stan Weideman asked this of each department head, that appeared before the board Tuesday night in the event that any alderman had questions concerning their budget requests.

Mayor pro-tem Barbara Rappold told the aldermen at the beginning of the meeting that all city employees would be receiving a five percent raise, some would be a little higher, but for the most part it was an across the board five percent raise.

What the other officials had a hard time getting through to Weideman was the fact that these raises would not be going into effect until January, and that the five percent raise was based on the proposed budget, not the amended budget.

The proposed budget shows what the employees were expected to make and the amended shows what they actually make. The amended budget is less, in most cases, than the proposed. The reason for this is that the budget is done in September, but the raises do not go into effect until January. There is a three month time span before the employee actually receives the raise, therefore, the employee makes less than what was budgeted.

The raises will not go into effect until January so the new administration has a chance to look at the budget and make any needed changes, and also to make sure that the city has the money to pay the employees more.

"This is a wish list. If the money does not come in, then there are a lot of things that we won't be able to do and there will be some changes that will have to be made," Rappold said.

The alderman will vote the proposed budget in their meeting Wednesday night.

us. He then spotted the back door open to the home and allegedly saw Woodward running from the back of the house," Hoda said.

By checking the tag number and receiving the name of the person that the car was registered to, one of the deputies on duty knew the person and waited for him at interstate 10.

"Deputy Ken Hurt was waiting for the subject at I-10 and arrested him. In his possession he allegedly had items that had been stolen from two residences in his vehicle," Hoda said.

Bond has been set at $31,000, Hoda added.

QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

On the morning of the break of dawn to see if anything was left of the area.

There may have been a few who slept through the night of horror, but those numbers had to be very few, if any.

Many had to swim, move into attics, climb to roof tops and up trees, and some even floated out on debris, and many did not make it to see dawn.

The conditions of homes were from completely destroyed to a very few with minor damages.

Utility poles were snapped like match sticks, the few trees remaining were twisted and devoid of leaves or straw. There were no birds singing, and yes, no electricity, natural gas, and most did not even have water to drink.

My wife Jane spent the night of Camille at her job at Hancock General Hospital, and I really did not know if she was alive.

A couple, who were friends of ours, spent the night with me, because they lived in the Cedar Point area, and after the storm all they had left was rubble, as the water went over their home.

I can recall that morning climbing over the many trees after I cut a pecan tree off my gate so I could get out of our yard. We walked to the corner of Main and Dunbar and visited Loiacano's grocery.

The store's windows were all blown in, and we did purchase a few items.

It wasn't until late in the evening after the storm before Jane was finally able to get home. Her new car, like the rest of the vehicles in the old hospital parking lot on Dunbar Avenue, was completely destroyed. She had to wait until all patients were airlifted before she was able to come home.

The hospital's generator for emergency power went under in the tidal wave, so it was non-operational.

At the time, The Echo was in the Woodman of the World building on South Second Street at the head of Court Street.

The next day when I finally got to the office, there was no roof. It had been blown all over the Cedar Rest Cemetery, and every window pane on both floors was completely out.

Needless to say, we had a lot of equipment damage as well as to the building.

I can recall prying loose pieces of slate buried into the front of the building, which had come from the courthouse's roof.

I know many of you do not like to hear horror stories, and I personally do not myself. At the same time, 25 years is a long time ago. We have many new residents and a new generation who did not witness Camille.

I can still recall watching Channel 13 and Ray Butfield, as long as the station had power, the night of Camille, urging everyone to seek high ground as Camille was a monster of a hurricane.

We do need to pay attention to hurricanes. A prime example was the hurricane party held at the Richelieu Apartments in Pass Christian. Only one of 24 survived that night, and she floated out on debris.

There are many areas along the Coast with low elevations, and people residing in these areas need to take necessary precautions.

Communications have improved tremendously in recent years, and this is very good. To give you an example, my brother Clemence was in Germany at the time of Camille, and he heard on the news that Waveland was destroyed by fire. It was a week before we could get word to him that we were all right.

The help we received after Camille will long be remembered, too.

The first state official to arrive in the area was Lt. Gov. Charles Sullivan, as he landed on the morning after Camille at the old Hancock County landing strip off Longfellow Road.

He was instrumental in relaying the word that led to President Richard Nixon declaring the Coast a disaster area on August 18, 1969.

People were in a daze after Camille. Many had no place to go, as everything they had was destroyed.

Russell Elliott, who was Hancock County Board of Supervisor president, said he and Civil Defense director Lucien Kidd had no sleep for five days and nights following Camille.

It did one good to see the cooperation among everyone following the disaster, neighbors helping neighbors, strangers helping strangers, local, state and federal officials all coming together to help.

The many organizations, such as Seventh Day Adventist, Salvation Army, Red Cross, private and public schools, churches, etc. joined to lend a helping hand.

Tears came to my eyes as I viewed the many residents from New Orleans and surrounding areas, who drove to Waveland's City Hall and other locations leaving bags of food, ice, water and other supplies and returned home.

The Mississippi Test Facility and NASA's support were tremendous.

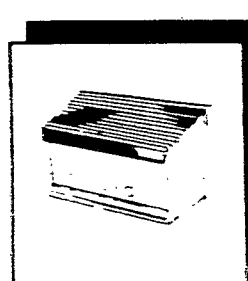

Many utility company workers from across the South came to our aid in helping replace our entire systems. Military, the U.S. Corps of Engineers, NASA, General Electric, volunteers, the support from across the area

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bay council members not non-progressive puppets

Dear Editor:

My family and I have visited the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area on an average of three times a year for the past seven years, sometimes staying as long as six weeks or more on each visit.

We also subscribe to The Sea Coast Echo in order to keep abreast of things in your area. We enjoy your community very much.

We wondered about the casinos moving in, but were not for or against them. We see the changes taking place each time we return. No doubt, you will experience extreme growing pains, and this will put an awful lot of pressure on your local officials, which brings me to my reason for writing this letter.

I am referring to the article I have been reading on the bed-and-breakfast issue in Cedar Point.

I could be amused if the situation wasn't so serious. Mr. Woodruff proclaims himself to be the great silent majority, while the entire Cedar Point community is the loud, rude, inconsiderate, only concerned about themselves minority.

Not only is he trying to force a change in law and force his will on an entire community, he has the gall to call them inconsiderate.

As for the council members being puppets, since when are you considered a puppet if you are an elected official and abiding by your voters' wishes?

It makes you wonder where this person has been all of his life.

This great country was founded on the majority rules. Instead of locating in an area zoned for this type of business he threatens to hire lawyers, go to court, and file suit to force his wishes upon others, because, in his words, he thought fairness would win over loudness, but didn't. This man has a strange meaning of fairness.

Councilman James Thriftley is to be commended for his prudence and outspoken views, also for voicing his convictions. He echoes his community's wishes in doing so.

Mr. Woodruff claims he will devote his future years to replacing non-progressive puppets with progressive minds. In other words, as long as they abide by his wishes, they will be considered progressive; when they don't, they also become puppets. Now that is really fair-minded.

His parting shot at the community was, "You have not seen or heard the last from me."

It is hard for me to understand why a person with so much venom in his system for a group of people would want to be their neighbor.

Sincerely,
James T. Chatellier
Paducah, Ky.

LETTERS WELCOME

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers on subjects of general interest. Letters must be signed and include address or phone number so that the sender can be contacted by the newspaper if necessary. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double spaced, and conform to standards of good taste.

Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation, and political endorsements are considered inappropriate for the Letters to the Editor columns.

was welcomed and helped us all.

Hancock County, its communities, the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, all pulled together following Camille to move forward to a better tomorrow.

I urge every citizen to please be aware of the death and destruction a hurricane can cause and make necessary preparations if one comes our way.

We never need another Camille along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

M

Rules for business property tax still taxing

There is good news for Mississippi businesses. A proposed method of assessing the tax value of business equipment and machinery is being retooled after it sparked enormous controversy and confusion.

The business community, tax assessors and state tax officials are pledged to work out a solution, as requested by legislative leaders.

Now the challenge is to devise a workable valuation method. To reach that end, the Mississippi Economic Council is stressing two important criteria.

One is to ensure fairness and equity among the taxpayers across the state. Mississippi Economic Council members want a level playing field, with all players dealt the same hand. It's an achievable goal, but complex and cumbersome rules are not the answer.

The second is to make the assessment procedure as simple as possible. The proposed method is too expensive, complicated and time consuming for many business owners and tax assessors to effectively implement. It would force many businesses, especially large ones, to spend thousands of dollars just to properly prepare and file piles of forms for documentation.

As one MEC representative told the Senate and House Joint Finance Subcommittee, "There is absolutely a need for reform. Until a system is adopted that is fair, simple to administer, and applicable to all businesses, voluntary compliance won't be reality."

Jubilee dinner vessel arrives ON PATROL

Caddy's Jubilee Casino announced that the Jubilation, a 95-foot, three-story dinner vessel, has arrived at Clermont Harbor where it is currently undergoing renovations.

When complete, the Jubilation will feature two distinct dining experiences, including a 40-seat gourmet restaurant featuring USDA prime ribs and steak, fresh seafood dishes and an extensive wine list, and a more casual restaurant offering to buy seafood specialties, beamed ribs and more.

George Baxter, COO of Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino, said the casino's 190-seat buffet is filled to capacity on a consistent basis, and the Jubilation will serve as the perfect avenue to meet dining needs.

"From the day we opened, we have had a reputation for the best food on the Gulf Coast, and this will be an extension of that service," Baxter said.

Food and beverage manager.

Only one of the Jubilation's 190-seat buffet first-rate dining experiences people have come to expect from Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino.

"Not only will the Jubilation meet our customers' expectations in regard to dining, but they will have an opportunity to enjoy the atmosphere of the Gulf aboard the boat," Radka said.

Renovations for the Jubilation are scheduled to be completed in six weeks.

BY SHARON K. SAUCIER
It was once a matter of time for a Cajun man Monday night.

Rickey Jacobs, investigator with the Waveland Police Department, said that the department was called out to someone at 200 Hillcrest attempting to steal a boat.

Shane Allen Torres, 27, 25 Woodland Rd., Carriere, was arrested and charged with attempted grand larceny, Jacobs said.

At the time of his arrest, Jacobs said that Torres' vehicle was hooked to the boat and trailer. The owners of the boat drove up while Torres was allegedly attempting to take it, Jacobs added.

Torres was placed in the Hancock County Justice Facility under $10,000 bond and is awaiting an initial appearance before Judge Lee Klein on today.

South Central Bell provides support for home-based workers

Where can Mississippi's aspiring entrepreneurs turn for assistance when faced with the daunting task of setting up the telecommunications arrangements for their home-based businesses? The answer is the South Central Bell Work at Home Connection.

The Work at Home Connection is a program of telecommunications services and support for home-based businesses and workers being introduced by South Central Bell, a Bell-South Telecommunications company.

"Home-based work, including traditional office workers who sometimes telecommute, is the fastest growing segment of American business," according to Rick Stewart, district manager.

"South Central Bell has recognized this growth and is taking steps to make it simpler for its Mississippi customers to set up their home-based operations. For example, we recently eased restrictions on using home telephone service for home-based businesses.

"Our intent is to create a long-term relationship with our customers who work out of their homes by assisting them in meeting their communications needs," says Stewart.

"We believe that the Work at Home Connection will prove to be mutually beneficial for South Central Bell and our customers."

Information about the South Central Bell Work at Home Connection is being mailed to Mississippi telephone customers. Interested parties can call 1-800-522-HOME to learn more about the Work at Home Connection and sign up for its quarterly newsletter, on-line assistance and discounts on a variety of services specially targeted to home business needs.

"The South Central Bell Work at Home Connection can make working at home easier and more productive and save you money by acting as a guide through today's maze of communications services and business equipment. The bottom line is: we can help our customers work more efficiently from home," Stewart concludes.

ACADEMY HAPPENINGS

Yesterday, Aug. 17 was the first day of school for Diamondhead Academy. Their goal in pre-registration for the 1994-95 year was to have 100 students. More than 100 children will be attending the academy this year, and isn't this great news? We are so fortunate to have this fine facility in our community. Principal Cal Rogers and her staff welcome three new teachers. Margaret Inabinet will be teaching art, Stephanie Raziano, fifth grade, and Toni Olsen, sixth grade. We wish them all another good year.

NOTICE!

To all residents of Diamondhead from POA Maintenance: No grass clippings, leaves, brush or other materials are to be placed into major drainage ditches. This either stops up the ditches at the point it is placed or at some other place, or it has to be cleaned up by someone else when it washes into their yard. Do be considerate of your neighbors.

NEW CLASSES

Those line-dancing pros, Charlie and Ruth Olivier, are "calling for cloggers" to their beginner clogging classes starting Saturday, Aug. 20. No prior dancing experience is required to learn this exciting and fun form of dance.

Please call Ruth at 255-3477 for details.

LOVELY LUAU

Those Diamondhead Boaters know how to give a great party and have a good time. The Diamondhead Country Club was transformed into an "Hawaiian night" last Saturday night.

Rusty Cobb and her helpers did a wonderful job on the table decorations; Brenda and her crew made wonderful food, and Kathy and friends brought it all together.

We can't wait for Mardi Gras '95. The new king and queen are Harold Turner and Terri (Ms. Mort) Downie. We congratulate our new 1995 royalty.

"LET'S DO MORE IN '94!"

How can you help? By joining the countywide cleanup on Saturday, Sept. 17 from 8 a.m. until noon. Registration in Diamondhead will be at Peoples Bank where you will be given supplies. Surprises of Litter Buds!

To volunteer, please call Bob Valigorsky at 255-7198.

GOOD JOB!

We say well done and good job to Terri Downie and Rose Almerico and all the other folks who did so much to make "An Enchanted Evening" fund raiser for the American Cancer Society a huge success.

The big prize, a beautiful full-length mink coat, donated by Gayfers department store, was won by Mary Ellen Turcotte.

Stars of the show

Seated are Margaret Williamson, Doris Gendusa, Shirley Blanchflower and Bernie Iverson; standing are Chuck Thissell, Ed Mauterer, Dick Hopkins and Rene Duffour, writer and director.

Some other winners were Frank Hille of Bay St. Louis, who won the complete home security system donated by Alice and Henry Burkhardt of Dictograph Security Systems in Diamondhead.

John Tarver won the TV. A great big thank you to these generous folks and companies, and also to all the people who gave something for the silent auction. Without them success would not be possible. Thank you, everyone.

A NEW DIRECTOR

Congratulations to Susan (Mrs. Jon) Ritten, a resident and an associate with Coast Delta Realty in Diamondhead on being appointed to St. Stanislaus' board of directors.

Jon and Susan's sons, Michael and Peter, are graduates of the school. Way to go, Susan.

CASINO CAPERS

Tonight's the night to join Tim Holt and Earl Hymel (255-9079) and friends (255-1633) for an evening of great food, cocktails and the fabulous sounds of Perey Sledge at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's Cabaret Showroom.

The fun begins at 5:30 p.m. at the club, where the bus will transport you there and back. See you there.

THOUGHTS TO SHARE

The secret of success is to find a need and fill it.

To keep your values on target, remember to live so that when you "arrive," you'll have pride behind you, and hope ahead of you. Then success is truly the path to heaven.

Wishing you all success in all that you do. Have a wonderful week!

DAMAGE PREVENTION PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

All companies or persons excavating shall obtain digging permits to allow city inspectors in all areas to locate and mark distribution facilities before excavation begins. It is also necessary to inspect distribution facilities after the work is completed in order to insure that the piping has not been dented or the wrapping damaged. The city shall be notified when underground work is completed. Permits must be obtained and filed at City Hall Utilities Department, 301 Coleman Avenue, Waveland, Mississippi 39576.

A forty-eight (48) hour notice is required of persons or contractors involved in underground construction to insure proper marking of buried plant before digging begins. The number to call for information is 467-9248 or Emergency Number, 467-3669.

German Fest is Sept. 24

The American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 of Waveland has completed plans for its annual German Fest Sept. 24.

The event will be held in the post home on Coleman Avenue. Food will be served from 5 to 10 p.m., and takeouts will be available. All kinds of German food will be served. Music by M & M starts at 7 p.m.

Dorothy Bielstein is general chairman this year. Eleanor Marsh and Myrtle Blanchard will be in charge of the raffle. "A donation of $1 will entitle you to win $100. Bring the entire family, as there will be entertainment for all, the famous 'chicken dance' being the highlight of the evening. There will be something for all the family to enjoy," said Lee J. Sauls, spokesman.

Featured this year will be German hot dogs, German and American potato salad, smoked pork chops, sauerkraut, cakes and desserts.

Proceeds from the German Fest will be used for the many veterans and children's projects sponsored by the unit, as well as for other community projects.

The auxiliary would also like to invite any lady who is eligible to join to become a member of the largest ladies veterans organization in the nation. Only order is also invited. Call Bielstein, membership chairman, at 467-4310.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Insurance counseling available for Medicare recipients

By Jan Lukens, MBA, CFP
Consumer Money
Management Specialist

It is getting easier for Medicare recipients to shop for Medicare supplement policies. Mississippi residents now have the Mississippi Insurance Counseling and Assistance Program (MICAP) to assist them.

MICAP offers counseling on the health-care choices available to disabled and older citizens of Mississippi. It assists individuals in understanding their Medicare and Medicaid benefits as well as the choices for Medicare supplement policies.

The program aims to help with understanding claims filing, including proper filing in Medicare Secondary Payer (MSP) situations. It hopes to expand the number of Medicare/Medicaid recipients by getting information out to those eligible for the benefits.

Choosing a Medicare supplement or Medigap policy became much easier with the 1992 legislation which standardized Medigap policies. Now every Medigap policy offered must conform to one of the 10 standardized policy forms.

All forms provide basic benefits. They vary in additional benefits offered such as coverage for skilled nursing facilities, prescriptions and Medicare deductibles.

Medigap selection becomes even easier with the computer software which MICAP offers. The software contains information on each of the 10 standardized Medigap forms enabling the insurance counselor and client to quickly match the needs of the Medicare recipient with the most appropriate policy form.

In addition to matching coverage needs, the MICAP program is currently compiling policy cost information on all insurance companies offering Medigap coverage in Mississippi. This will help the Medicare recipient to price shop from one location. By using the counseling service, consumers avoid paying for unnecessary coverage by purchasing the correct policy form and should get the most coverage for their dollar.

Following the counseling session, consumers may wish to check the financial stability of the insurance company selected.

In addition to assistance in selecting Medicare supplements, consumers can request counseling on long-term care insurance plans.

MICAP came about through the efforts of the Mississippi Department of Human Services, Division of Aging and Adult Services.

The Area Agencies on Aging through the 10 Planning and Development Districts will be coordinating the insurance programs. Each Area Agency on Aging will have a MICAP coordinator and at least one trained volunteer counselor from each county to provide counseling.

In the Gulf Coast area, our new coordinator is Ellie Brown at the Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District. Brown is currently accepting volunteer applications.

Counseling will be offered on an appointment basis. To volunteer or call for an appointment, call 1-800-444-8014.

Jolly Rogers

The Printing Factory of Hancock County

Jolly Rogers started their work and students out as a print shop in 1986, said owner Allyson Keller, but requests from the community were guides to the expansion of its services.

The business is a center for UPS shipping and a headquarters for people to pay their South Central Bell Telephone bills.

One of the most exciting aspects of Jolly Roger's growth, Keller said, is the computer rentals it offers. She rents time on the three systems to business people who travel and need to do who want to brush up on their computer skills. Many use the service to update resume's. The computers use Microsoft software and have graphic capabilities. There is also a full page scanner for use. The price for rental is $10 an hour and $7 for students.

Jolly Rogers also has fax service, does Xerox copying and of course, does printing of all kinds. The business offers complete printing services such as business cards, forms, invitations and stationery.

Hurricane Camille leaves devastation in its path

Helicopter review

The destruction of Hancock County by Hurricane Camille was viewed by governmental representatives in helicopters. The Army helicopters first landed at the old Hancock County Airport located on Longfellow Road and made periodic stops along Beach Boulevard. (Echo file photo).

The tropical storm that was to become the infamous Hurricane Camille formed rapidly. It originated in the Cayman Islands on Aug. 14 and reached hurricane proportions the next day. The storm moved forward on a north-northwest course, stalled and then intensified.

On Sunday, August 17, a U.S. Air Force reconnaissance plane recorded the central barometric pressure in the eye of the storm. It was 26.61 inches, the lowest barometric pressure ever to be recorded on the western hemisphere by an aircraft.

The eye of the storm crossed the Mississippi Gulf Coast near Waveland at about 10 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 17, with winds estimated at 200 mph.

Static high tides were taken at Mean Sea Level and were measured at 21.4 feet in Pass Christian and 20 feet in Bay St. Louis. Camille left in her wake, many deaths. Homes and businesses were destroyed and ocean going vessels had run aground.

President Richard Nixon declared Mississippi a disaster area on Aug. 18 and authorized 26 of its 82 counties eligible for federal assistance.

Humanitarian units moved in to give assistance to the dazed victims of Hurricane Camille, bringing in clean water, food, medicine and shelter for the homeless. But in the true American spirit, the people revived, rolled up their sleeves and rebuilt their towns.

A Day to Remember

August 18, 1969

Mayor welcomes!

Discussing plans

Following the 'shock' of Hurricane Camille, Hancock County, Waveland and Bay St. Louis officials began to plan a strategy with assistance from state and federal agencies. At one of the many meetings were from left, Lucien Kidd, Hancock County Civil Defense director; Andre Arceneaux, Bay St. Louis Commissioner of Finance; and Lucien Gex, legal council for General Electric, prime contractor at the Mississippi Test Facility. (Echo file photo)

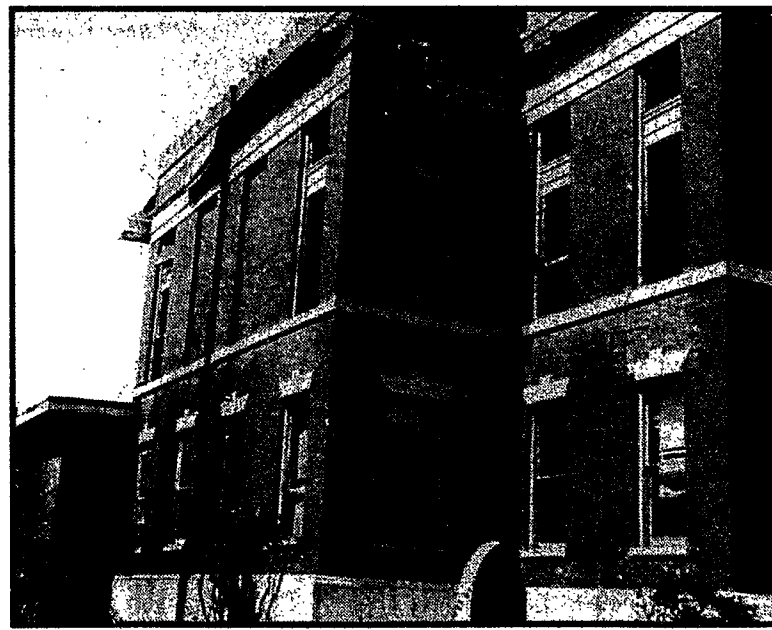

Shoreline Park

Heavy damage was received to most homes located Shoreline Park during Hurricane Camille. This was the scene at a residence on Highway 603. Hancock countians went many days without electricity, gas, water and telephone service. Utility companies sent representatives from numerous states to help local companies restore services. (Echo file photo)

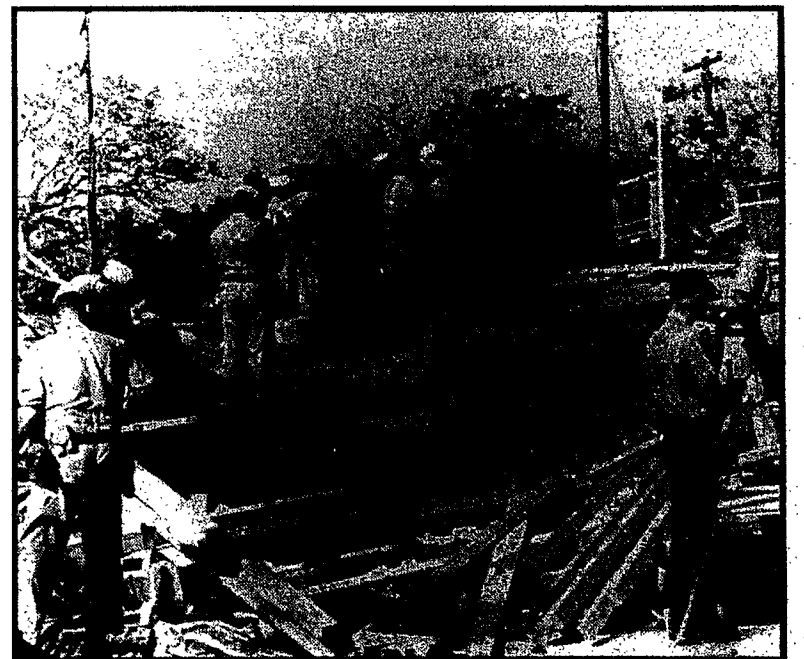

Fast response

A Seventh Day Adventist soup kitchen was the first organization to come to Hancock County's aid in the face of Hurricane Camille. It arrived before the storm and parked on Main Street, Bay St. Louis, in front of the courthouse. The late Mrs. Chester Kingston, left, sips a cup of coffee she just received. Following the days and weeks after Camille, many organizations came to the aid of Hancock's people by supplying food, clothing and shelter. (Echo file photo).

Hancock Courthouse

Hancock County's courthouse was battered from one end to the other as the 235 miles per hour plus winds of Hurricane Camille went through Hancock County on the night of August 17, 1969. On August 18, President Richard Nixon declared Hancock and 25 other Mississippi counties major disaster areas. (Echo file photo).

Body search

U.S. Naval Construction Battalion Center's personnel search a mass of wreckage for bodies in Waveland after Hurricane Camille's pass through the area. Some 139 persons across the Gulf Coast lost their lives in the storm, rated the most powerful ever to strike the continental United States. Pass Christian damage

Hancock North Central

Hancock North Central High School was a hurricane shelter that exploded from a tornado during Hurricane Camille, spreading debris all over the school's grounds located off Highway 603 in North Hancock County. (Echo file photo).

Ohr Extravaganza

Local and regional artists are invited to participate in the third annual George E. Ohr Extravaganza.

The Oct. 22 event will include a juried fine arts exhibition and a juried folk and artisan market. Selected works in all media will be considered for participation in the two categories.

Cash prizes will be awarded, and winning entries in both events will be displayed at the George E. Ohr Arts and Cultural Center for four weeks after the Extravaganza.

Artists needing more information should contact Marjorie Gowdy, museum director, at (601) 374-5547.

The Extravaganza celebrates the life of famed potter George E. Ohr. In addition to art, food and fun, this year's event will serve as the official grand opening of the new Ohr gallery at the Arts and Cultural Center.

Parents, turn rare family time into quality time

During hectic school days, parents may be looking for ideas to turn rare family time into quality time. A University of Mississippi museums educator suggests looking at the world of science.

"Children are mystified at things they don't understand and can often be shown or told in very simple but entertaining ways," says Amy DeWys-VanHecke, who offers these tips to get started on scientific explorations:

- Learn the names of scientific studies. Begin with a trip to the library for books on astronomy, biology, chemistry, geology and physics. Some books provide simple experiments that will go far in explaining everyday happenings.

- Take a hike into the woods or walk a nature trail. Try to find and identify insects, birds, plants and animals. Discuss animal adaptations, habitats, food and predators. Search

Phantom of the Opera

Andrew Lloyd Webber's The Phantom of the Opera, directed by Harold Prince and presented by Cameron Mackintosh and The Really Useful Theatre Company, Inc., will begin performances at The Saenger in New Orleans Thursday, January 5, 1995 through Sunday, February 5, 1995 for a limited premiere engagement of four weeks.

The official opening night is Friday, Jan. 6 at 8 p.m.

Beginning Sunday, July 10, 1994, at 10 a.m., telephone charge orders will be accepted by calling (504) 522-5555 or 1-800-488-5252.

New Orleans Opera

A season of action, treachery, vengeance, doomed love and some of the world's most beautiful music takes center stage as the New Orleans Opera Association announces its lineup for 1994-95.

Operas to be staged next season include:

- Macbeth* by Giuseppe Verdi, September 21 and 24, 1994;

- Elektra* by Richard Strauss, October 26 and 29, 1994;

- La Boheme* by Giacomo Puccini, November 23 and 26, 1994;

- and Eugene Onegin by Pyotr Illych Tchaikovsky, April 5 and 8, 1995.

The operas will be performed at the Theatre of the Performing Arts, 801 North Rampart Street (Louis Armstrong Park), New Orleans on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m.

Single tickets for individual shows go on sale August 15. For ticket information call the opera office at (504) 529-2278 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays. Visa and Mastercard accepted.

for animal tracks, or sit still, and quietly watch for deer, rabbits and squirrels.

- Try star gazing on clear nights. Purchase an inexpensive astronomy chart available in bookstores. Looking skyward, identify constellations. To extend star gazing adventures, buy a telescope.

- Tour a museum. Some museums offer hands-on exhibits. At the University Museums on Ole Miss' Oxford campus, for example, an acceleration machine demonstrates a physics principle and a xylophone helps one better understand acoustics.

- Go on a geology field trip. Dig in your own backyard for fossilized materials, or locate area quarries that often contain geological finds. Visit national and state parks and learn their geological histories. Inquire at local college or university geology departments about public exhibits.

Gulf Coast Writers Association

The Aug. 25 meeting of the Gulf Coast Writers Association will be at 7 p.m. in the auditorium of Parker Hall at William Carey College on the Coast.

Speaker will be Carolyn Haines of Mobile, Ala. Mrs. Haines is the author of 17 books, including "Summer of the Redeemers." The club welcomes all accomplished writers and would-be writers, as well as anyone who would like to hear Mrs. Haines.

Carolyn Haines

Author to visit

Lucedale native and former Ocean Springs resident Carolyn Haines is finding 1994 her "summer of success" with Summer of the Redeemers (Dutton, $22.95).

The coming-of-age novel, set in George County in 1963, has created quite a stir both here and abroad. In fact, English reviewers are comparing it to Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird and Mark Childress's Crazy in Alabama.

Thirteen-year-old Bekkah Rich lives on Kali Oka Road in rural Mississippi — a place where nothing happens — until the summer of 1963, when a mysterious church called the Blood of the Redeemer moves in down the road.

Before the summer ends, Bekkah will have to deal with worry over her father's possible affair, an enigmatic horsewoman with a penchant for young boys, and the kidnapping of her best friend's baby sister. The whirlwind ending will keep you guessing and on the edge of your seat.

Haines has been a successful novelist since 1988, with 13 romances published under the pseudonym "Caroline Burnes."

In Summer of the Redeemers, she ably tries her hand at mainstream fiction. Fans will be looking forward to her next book — a horror story set in Alabama called The Nester.

Meanwhile, readers can get a taste of Haines herself on Friday, August 19 at 7 p.m. when she reads from her novel at Bookends Bookstore on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

Percy Sledge returns to Jubilee casino

World-renowned R&B legend Percy Sledge, who has accumulated five gold albums and two platinum albums during a career that has spanned four decades, will perform at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's Cabaret Showroom August 18-21.

Sledge, whose hit "When A Man Loves a Woman" skyrocketed to the top of the charts in the late 60s, recently received the R&B Association's first Career Achievement Award for artists who have made lifelong contributions to the development of rhythm and blues.

Sledge played to a sold-out house at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino in May, and was such a crowd-pleaser that he was asked back again.

Sledge will perform twice nightly at the Cabaret Showroom, at 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. Thursday and Sunday. Cost for the show is $10, reservations required.

Upcoming acts at Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino include Paul Revere & The Raiders (Aug. 25-28) and Lloyd Price (Sept. 1-4).

For information call 1-800-552-0707.

Hancock County Humane Society continues at current location

Special to the Echo
By Tanya P. Rogers, President
Hancock County
Humane Society

After reading the article in the Sea Coast Echo, our landlady decided to put a new air-conditioner in our flea market so that we can continue making money to help the animals.

With much thanks to Mrs. John Benigno we are happy to announce that it will be "business as usual" in our shop located at Hwy. 90 and Drinkwater Street.

Our manager, Mrs. Lorraine Taylor, asks everyone to bring us their no longer needed, but still good, items so that we can resell them.

She also asks everyone who has not visited us yet to come in and see what we have.

You can't imagine the wonderful things people give to us because they know it goes to help needy animals in Hancock County.

Special thanks to The Sea Coast Echo for always supporting the Hancock County Humane Society in its goal of humane treatment for all animals.

Gulf Islands National Seashore celebrates National Parks Day

Gulf Islands National Seashore, both Florida and Mississippi districts, will celebrate National Parks Day on Thursday, Aug. 25, announced Superintendent Jerry Eubanks.

The Mississippi District concessioner, Ship Island Excursions, will observe National Parks Day by offering reduced fares to Ship Island for the day. Adults may go to the island for $10 instead of the regular $12 fare. Children (ages 3-10) will be admitted for $5 instead of the regular $6 fare.

Local residents are encouraged to be "a tourist for a day" and enjoy one of the area's most popular attractions.

Boats depart from Gulfport Yacht Harbor at 9 a.m. and noon. Return boats leave Ship Island at 2:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. and passengers may return on either one, arriving back on the mainland at 3:45 p.m. or 6:45 p.m. For more detailed boat information, contact Ship Island Excursions at (601) 864-1014.

"Come and enjoy the natural splendor of the Seashore and the visitor program activities. Help us to protect and preserve the resources, report any vandalism to a park ranger or park dispatch at (904) 934-2623," stated Eubanks.

For more information, call (904) 934-2600.

Coastal cleanup is Sept. 17

For the eighth time Mississippi will participate in the International Coastal Cleanup. On Sept. 17 an army of volunteers will descend on Gulf Coast beaches, islands, marshes, bayous and boat ramps in the battle against marine debris.

Once again, the Mississippi Marine Trash Task Force will coordinate the cleanup. A record 2,600 volunteers were part of the 1993 effort which collected over 21 tons of trash from 85 miles of coastline. Thirty-six U.S. states and 55 countries participated in the worldwide cleanup.

"We're hoping for another record number of residents to participate this year," said Kay Baltar, this year's Task Force chairperson. "Unfortunately there is still unsightly, dangerous litter along our beaches and waterways."

The Sept. 17 cleanup is a way of drawing the public's attention to the serious issue of marine trash as well as a huge cleanup effort, Baltar said. The Task Force hopes this event will work with ongoing education campaigns to keep the issue in the spotlight.

Numbers to call for volunteering are:

Plan for pet's airline travels

By Dr. Wynn Jones
Veterinarian
MSU College of Veterinary Medicine

"My husband and I are moving to Washington state and plan to bring our 7-year-old cat with us. We will be flying and plan to transport our cat by plane.

"He has ridden in a cat carrier in the car but has never flown or been cooped up for a long period of time. What can I do to make the trip easier for him?"

The fact that your cat has traveled in a cat carrier is a plus. Cats accustomed to traveling in a carrier or cage usually travel by plane without any difficulty.

If your cat is apprehensive about strange places or sounds, your veterinarian can prescribe a safe tranquilizer for him. Some cats react unpredictably to tranquilizers, so discuss this option with your veterinarian.

Sometimes special arrangements can be made to have a cat travel in the passenger area. If you think your cat will travel poorly in baggage, use this option if at all possible.

If the cat travels in a crate, be sure the crate is strong and provides enough room for your cat to stand up, turn around, and lie down comfortably.

A towel or soft and familiar bedding can be placed inside the crate with a small box containing litter. Check with the airline to find out any special requirements.

Do not feed your cat within eight hours prior to shipping and avoid giving water within two hours of shipping. Do not place food and water in the crate.

A young, healthy cat can go 24 hours without water unless the environmental temperature is high. However, older animals, which might appear healthy but may have chronic renal disease, would require water supplementation in the form of frozen water or a special water system with external delivery system.

Remember to attach an identification tag to both the crate and the cat with your name, your cat's name, the home address and destination. Good luck to you and your cat!

Mississippi Power

If you want to find the fish, look for the lights on the pier. It looks like the single biggest fishing area. This past week it has been the Ulman Street pier. The Ulman Street pier is located at the junction of Beach Boulevard and Bay St. Louis. It is a "free-to-the-public pier" in that no admission charge is assessed for the use of the pier. That means free, Jack.

The Ulman Street pier is about 9 trillion miles long (translation: about one-half mile) and is reasonably well lit. By reasonably well lit, I mean that there are still quite a few dark areas on the walkway as you travel to the end of the pier.

The lights on the walkway all tend to be angled toward the water. Lighting the water definitely helps make this a good fishin' spot, as the light helps to draw minnows and other goodies that the fish like to dine on.

There is a large platform area at the end of the pier that can accommodate a fair-size group of fishermen. The platform area is very well lit. It also has lighting that is directed toward the water to help attract fish.

White trout seem to be the most common fish being caught at night, off these structures.

The favorite food of white trout seems to be dead shrimp fished on the bottom using a 4/0 hook, or smaller, with no bigger than a 3/8 oz. lead sinker. The weight of the sinker seems to be important.

The reason for this size sinker is that it gives you enough weight to cast your bait a good distance out. Yet, you can feel the fish when they nibble on your bait.

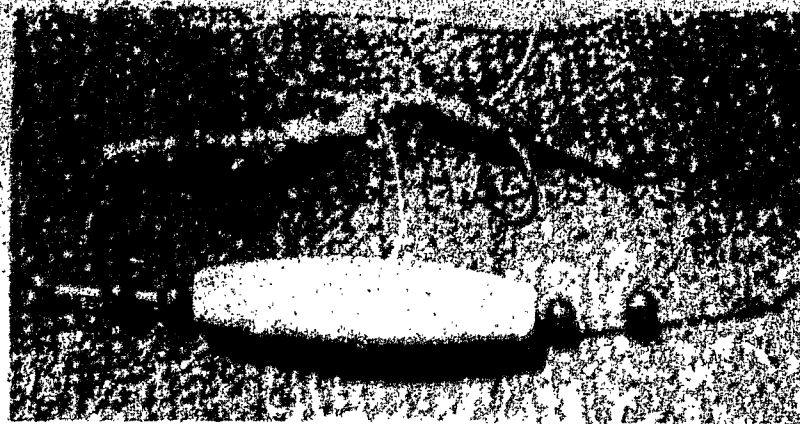

If you use too heavy of a sinker it is like tying a brick to the end of your line. It takes a fish the size of a giant blue fin tuna shark to even move your line off the bottom. Now, how are you gonna feel an ordinary fish bite if your bait is cemented to the bottom of the water? The answer is obvious — no way.

For those folks who are fishing the Bay St. Louis car bridge at night, I have several reliable reports that those big metal fish are dangerous. Plus, no one yet has been able to file one of the metal fish that use the bridge.

So, the word is: you might want to be extra careful if you gotta fish the Bay St. Louis car bridge at night or any other time.

The Riddle Cork seems to be driving the fish plump hog trough

Night fishing the way to go wild out in the surf. The wade fishermen are reporting that it is downright unfair to have someone in the area use a Riddle Cork as it sends the fish away from them toward the person with the noisy cork.

Now, I don't know if the new cork is really that good or if the wade fishermen are stretching the truth. Of course, no true fishermen would ever stretch the truth, would they?

The theory behind the noisy cork is, it makes a clicking sound each time it is jerked. This clicking sound must be the ideal sound for a hungry or curious trout.

The sound carries over a long distance in the water and has a tendency to get the attention of the trout over long distances. Most wade fishermen I talked to this week were using the cork with green beetles in tandem about 12 to 18 inches under the cork.

This will be a short column this week, as the Turtle has gotta go eat. It seems the shrimp are in the medium to super jumbo size. This can only mean it is BBQ shrimp time. That means stuff-your-face time on shrimp.

To make the BBQ shrimp, you need two pounds of the big beautiful shrimp now available, two sticks of Fleischmann's margarine, a little garlic salt and a lot of black pepper.

Don't forget the French bread.

Place the whole shrimp, head and all, in a baking pan one layer deep. Cut up the margarine into pieces and place on the shrimp. Sprinkle with a little garlic salt. Put a whole lot of black pepper on top of the shrimp. You almost can't put too much. Place in a preheated 350 degree oven till done — about 10 to 15 minutes. Don't forget to dip the French bread in the juice. O man, O man, O man, it's a good.

This week's wonderful wise words: Be a true sport; carry your trash off when you leave your fishin' spot.

Have you ever seen a hot diddle ding dong dandy, Turtle?

Monthly meeting of Department of Marine Resources

BY JIM MANESS

The monthly meeting of the Department of Marine Resources was Monday, Aug. 15 at the DMR building, located in the Edgewater Mall area in Biloxi.

Commissioners present were Oliver Sahuque, Douglas Horn, Rusty David, Webb Lee, Sherman Muths and William Mitchell. The newest commissioner, Dr. Vernor Asper, PhD of Diamondhead, was sworn in at this meeting.

The first order of business concerned changing the wording of some of the ordinances and the clarification of some ordinances. Ordinance number one increased the responsibility of the DMR in the oyster fishing industry. They now have the responsibility of sanitation inspections at facilities that open oysters and sell them retail.

Oliver Sahuque asked fisheries director Tom van Devender to give a count of how many out-of-state oyster tongs are working in Mississippi waters and if Mississippi rules apply to them. Mr. Van Devender was unable to give an answer.

The opening of oyster reefs to tonging was discussed, as well as public versus private oyster reef harvesting.

Van Devender felt one of the advantages of having a private reef was, a person could manage the reef as he saw fit.

Much discussion concerned the early opening of oyster season and depletion of oyster stocks, if they were to be harvested during the summer months when they spawn.

Additionally, there was concern about the presence of Vibrio disease during the summer months. It was felt by Van Devender that just one case of the Vibrio disease could ruin the oyster business in Mississippi.

Dr. Asper asked if Mr. Van Devender had any studies or evidence that the fall opening date had been either beneficial or detrimental to the oyster crop. He also asked if any studies or statistics were available to show Vibrio levels during the summer months. Van Devender answered: "We don't have any information."

Commissioner Rusty David was concerned about the oyster industry as a whole because of Vibrio. He prefers refrigeration of oysters on the boats. The early opening of oyster season was tabled till April 1995.

Ordinance Number 7 was presented by DMR Fisheries director Van Devender. He states, "The Legislature in its infinite wisdom went against our recommendation on this ordinance."

His primary concern was a section of the ordinance that would allow shrimpers to keep fillets of fish by-catch without their heads and tails intact.

Chief law enforcement officer Terry Baker gave the totals of citations issued last month. This reporter did not get the exact number of violations, but Baker's department was very active.

Dalton McGuire requested a zoning change from G to CS-3 to construct a private marina on Bernard Bayou. There are currently two public marinas on the bayou.

Mayor Combs spoke in favor of the change. McGuire stated, "We have done everything we were guided to do by the DMR."

The staff of DMR recommended the zoning change. The commission, on a motion of commissioner William Mitchell, denied the change. Commissioner Asper said the marina did not meet the test of the greater public good.

Jeff Benoit of the Office of Ocean and Coastal Resources

Management in Washington, D.C. turned over title of approximately 429 acres of land located by the Grand Bay Preserve to the state of Mississippi for conservation use. The Nature Conservancy of Arlington, Va. was reportedly responsible for the purchase.

Lawyers for GCCA spoke for almost one hour requesting a change in red fish size limits from 16 inches to 18 inches.

Low profile fishing reefs are scheduled to be placed in the three coastal counties in the next few years. Material is now available for a reef to be located in the area dredged out for the sand beach in Bay St. Louis.

There was no line-item breakdown of the financial report available.

The next commission meeting will be Monday, Sept. 19 at 9 a.m.

USM for fall semester

University of Southern Mississippi students will begin flocking to campus Aug. 19 for the start of the 1994 fall semester — and they'll get some help moving in.

"We're expecting a good crowd," said Dr. Joe Paul, vice president for student affairs. Paul and other administrators expect about a 5 percent increase in new students (freshmen and transfers), but final enrollment totals won't be known until after classes start Aug. 22.

Students began registering for fall classes by touch-tone telephone in April. Late registration concludes the first week of classes.

Incoming freshmen can expect to get help adjusting to dormitory life with a repeat of an effort begun last year, when USM administrators pitched in personally. Paul and other members of the campus community will be on hand at Bolton Hall Aug. 19, to help new students move into that dorm and other residence facilities.

"They can expect us to meet them, help them park and also help them move their stuff in," Paul said of the special "Dorm Check-in" event scheduled from 10 a.m.-11:30 a.m.

That same Friday, Aug. 19, also will feature a special orientation session for new faculty from 8 a.m. until noon at the Polymer Science Research Center auditorium. A cross section of university administrators will speak during the session.

Health attitude, diet improve inside and out

By Dr. Ann Jarratt
4-H Youth Development Specialist
Cooperative Extension Service

TEENTALK

"I am very unhappy. I'm 14 and overweight. Being the size I am, it's hard to wake up each day with the same problem. Wherever I go, I am self-conscious and paranoid. I have a long history with roller-coaster diets that haven't worked."

"I want really badly to change my life before it is too late. If you were in my place, what would you do? I am open to suggestions."

I can tell that you are very frustrated about your weight and want to do something about it. You are so wise to take action while you're young.

I'm sure you've heard a million times that what's really important about a person is what they're like inside, not what you see on the outside. Regardless of how many times you've heard it, it's still very true. It's important that you learn to like and appreciate the person you are inside. You are absolutely worthwhile just as you are!

Because you truly believe you are worthwhile, it only makes sense that you would want to continually do things that would make you healthier, more attractive, smarter and friendlier.

If you are very overweight, I suggest you talk with your parents about scheduling a visit with your family doctor. You said the diets you had tried on your own hadn't worked, so you need some professional help.

Roller coaster diets can harm you. Your doctor needs to help you determine if there is a physical problem causing the excess weight or whether you need to change your eating habits and get on a regular exercise program.

If you're not exercising regularly, and there's no physical reason that you can't, you need to start doing some kind of aerobic exercise of at least 30 minutes a day three days a week. Six or seven days a week would be even better.

Choose something you enjoy doing like walking, biking, skating, swimming or aerobic dancing. Then contract with yourself to do it every day or very other day, even if you don't want to. Give yourself extra credit if you exercise for 30 minutes when you don't want to!

If one type of exercise gets boring, change to something else. Just keep doing it. Some towns have hospitals that offer exercise programs that are very good. Exercising with other people may help keep you motivated.

Your local hospital probably has a dietician who can help you learn how to change your eating habits so you can get to your ideal weight.

You may be surprised to learn that you don't have to starve yourself to lose weight; you may have to eat more healthful foods.

Another good resource is your county extension home economist. She has materials that will help you with your weight concern. These materials and her consultation will be free.

If you have questions concerning your teenage years, write Dr. Ann Jarratt, 4-H youth development specialist, Box 9641, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

Gulf Coast School of Basketball a success

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
St. Stanislaus hosted the sixth annual Gulf Coast School of Basketball last week in the Brother Peter Memorial Gymnasium. Discipline and fundamentals of the game were the aspects of the game that were stressed.

The Gulf Coast School of Basketball has grown to be the largest high school basketball day camp in the state. This year's camp saw 112 campers join hoping to learn the game from the state's top coaches.

Highlighting the week's events were lectures by SSC football coach Brannon LeBlanc, Loyola University head coach Jerry Hernandez, and renowned motivational speaker J. Larry Ladner.

Coach Jay Ladner, camp director, stated, "This camp has grown to a point where we may have to consider going to a two week camp. It's just been a huge success."

Rocks take part in camps

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The St. Stanislaus basketball players spent the summer preparing themselves for the upcoming season, which promises to be an exciting one for the Rock team.

This summer 36 players from SSC competed against schools from Mississippi and Louisiana in AAU competition. The Rocks were divided into three teams. The teams composed next year's eighth and ninth graders, the tenth graders formed a unit, and next year's juniors and seniors composed the varsity team.

The players took part in a summer weightlifting and conditioning program three days a week. The players went through lifting weights, plyometrics, explosion and agility drills, and sprints.

The Rocks attended numerous basketball camps throughout the nation. Players went to such schools as Ole Miss, University of Southern Mississippi, Duke University, Mississippi State, the Collonade High Potential Camp at the University of West Florida, the Dixie Basketball Camp, and the Gulf Coast School of Basketball.

Ladner serves as instructor

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaw head basketball coach Jay Ladner continues to be in demand as an instructor at basketball clinics across the South.

This summer saw Ladner instruct at the University of Southern Mississippi, the University of West Florida, the Dixie Basketball Camp, and directed the largest basketball day camp in the state of Mississippi, the Gulf Coast School of Basketball.

Ladner comments, "It's very gratifying and humbling to know that people appreciate the work that you do. I really believe that it is a credit to the success of the basketball program and our players."

Ducks Unlimited dedicated to waterfowl

Mississippi is blessed with some of the very best Ducks Unlimited volunteers in the country. Through their support and committed effort, Mississippi Ducks Unlimited has had one of its finest years ever.

These volunteers in 1993 assisted MS DU in reaching a 13 percent increase in income, a 10 percent increase in membership and over $1,056,000 in total income.

This success coupled with the abundance of ducks this past year, excellent hunter opportunity, and the anticipated bumper crop of fall flights of ducks will give a substantial boost to help fund-raising efforts again this year.

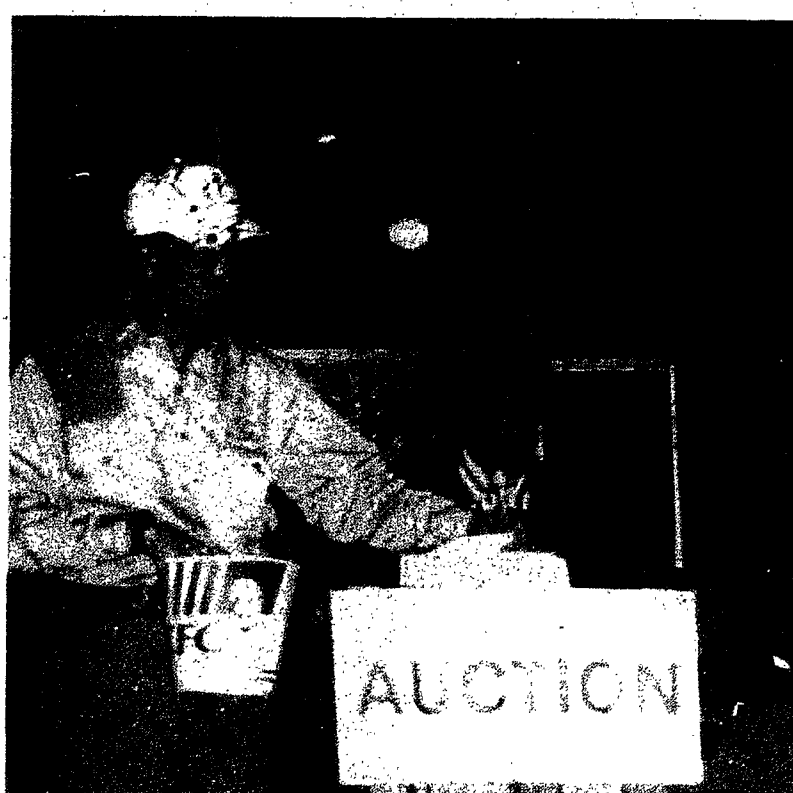

Jeff Nelson, chief biologist, Ducks Unlimited, Memphis, Tenn., states, "We are seeing near perfect water and cover conditions in much of the primary duck producing regions of the U.S. and improved conditions on the Canadian prairies."

"DU's habitat program with individual farmers, our wetland restoration and enhancement activities on public lands and extensive nesting cover provided by the Conservation Reserve Program are combined to yield the best duck production in years. If conditions persist, we expect a big payoff in duck production."

Dr. Mickey Heitmeyer, director, Institute for Wetlands and Waterfowl Research, Memphis, says, "1994 will be the best duck production year on the North American continent in decades."

"Habitat conditions in the heart of North America's duck breeding areas are unprecedented in more than a generation. We are about to witness a marvelous turn-around in the fortunes of several species of prairie-nesting ducks."

"Increased duck production is the universal message this year. Surveys in Alaska show a 16 percent increase in breeding ducks and the potential for significant increases in the fall flight. When combined with the increased production in the prairie, we can expect to see the healthiest North American duck population in decades."

states Dr. Fritz Reid, regional biologist, Ducks Unlimited, Sacramento, Calif.

In Jackson, Dr. Davis Wesley, director of operations, Ducks Unlimited, said, "The water returning to the prairies, coupled with the improved cover, will foster a substantially improved fall flight of ducks. Landowners and conservationists all across the continent can take pride in the successful effort to set the stage for this kind of production."

"With a healthy fall flight, it becomes even more important that we maintain and expand our habitat programs in the wintering grounds to ensure that ducks have all the reserves necessary to follow through next spring with another bumper crop."

"We have to send them back north 'fat and sassy' so they can take maximum advantage of the favorable conditions they should find awaiting them."

Wetland environments restored by DU provide haven for hundreds of other wildlife species, while also ensuring a stable source of fresh water for man's needs.

The local chapter of Ducks Unlimited will be sponsoring the fall dinner/auction event soon and would welcome your support. Please make plans to attend.

NOTICE OF SUBSTITUTED TRUSTEE'S SALE
STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
COUNTY OF HANCOCK
I, Nicholas M. Haas, Substituted Trustee in Deed of Trust from Fred Cooper and wife, Mary Sue Cooper, to Samuel O. Peterson, Beneficiary, dated June 7, 1984, and recorded in Book 265, page 42, Records of Hancock County, Mississippi, being requested by holder of the deed, do hereby give notice that the property described in said deed, to-wit: Lot 26, Block 1, Subdivision 1, of the property described in said deed, will be sold at public auction for cash to the highest and best bidder at the front door of the Courthouse of said County, the real property described as:
Lot 26, Third Ward, City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi, as per map or plat thereof on file and of record in the Office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, Mississippi.
The above Deed of Trust was assumed by Mark A. Carter and wife, Amy L. Carter by Assumption Deed dated 4/19/91 and recorded in Book 8865, Page 503, Deed Records of Hancock County, MS. The Beneficiary departed this life testate on 4/10/90, and the Final Judgment administering his estate is recorded in Book 408, Page 737, Deed of Trust Records, Hancock County, MS.
being the property described in said Deed of Trust.
The undersigned was substituted as Trustee by instrument dated March 25, 1994, recorded in Book 408, page 735, of said Deed of Trust Records.
I will convey only such title as is vested in me as Substituted Trustee.
ADVERTISED, POSTED AND SIGNED, this 2nd day of August, 1994.

Tips On Writing Effective Classified Ads

- STICK TO THE FACTS: Prospective buyers need to know details like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.
- BE HONEST: Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyer's trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.
- SPELL IT OUT: Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?
- THE BOTTOM LINE: State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.
- BE THERE: List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.
- ASK US: If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!
